Max Hanson has been practicing law in Arizona since 1997, joining Owens & Perkins in 2011. He practiced extensively as a trial attorney in arbitrations, bench trials, and multi-day jury trials in a variety of family, civil, and criminal law proceedings. He has handled a number of appeals in both civil and family law cases and several of these appeals resulted in published opinions making new law in Arizona.

Mr. Hanson's current practice focuses on complex, high net worth and ultra-high net worth divorce cases, both representing clients and serving as a mediator, as well as the preparation and review of Prenuptial Agreements and Qualified Domestic Relations Orders (QDROs). He is a Certified QDRO Specialist through The American Association of Certified QDRO Professionals (AACQP™).

The American Association of Certified QDRO Professionals and certification herein are not an organization accredited by or recognized as an official board certification or speciality by the Arizona State Bar or its Board of Legal Specialization.
